Utah voters will choose electors to represent them in the Electoral College via a popular vote. The state of Utah had been won by Donald Trump by a margin of 15.9 points in 2016. However, the state also voted for former Vice President Al Gore in both the 2000 and 2004 elections. It is currently the 19th-most Republican state. Cox dropped out on March 8, 2019, saying: "I feel the time for change is now and therefore am ending my campaign for Utah Governor. I'm proud of the campaign I ran. Utah Democrats stood on a positive message to get to the people. We were not part of the Washington political establishment." Stansberry dropped out on April 3, 2019, saying: "I can't let some third-party politicians steal Utah's 2020 election. Utah is the key to the White House. Vote democratic for Utah!"
